

Mac And Rory's Grammar Stories

Conjunctions

(Surfing Or Stargazing?)

Ireland is an island in the North Atlantic Ocean, so it has great waves for surfing!

There aren't a lot of people in Ireland, so it's a great place to look at the stars at night.

Rory loves surfing and he wants to go on a surfing holiday.

Rory really wants to go surfing but Mac doesn't.

I tried last year, Rory, but I can't stand up on the board.

Don't worry! You just need more practice!

I want to try the big waves in Sligo because I'm a pretty good surfer now!

So where will we go? Will we go to Sligo or will we go to Mayo?

Rory doesn't like stargazing because he finds it very boring.

Mac, looking up at the sky in the middle of the night is really boring so I don't want to go stargazing.

We could go surfing...or we could go stargazing!

You can't see anything because you're looking through the binoculars the wrong way!

Well, I don't want to go surfing so can we find a compromise?

Luckily, Mayo has really good surfing waves and...

MAC, DID YOU SEE ME RIDING THAT REALLY BIG WAVE?

Oh yes! You were fantastic!

...a Dark Sky Reserve!

Rory, quick, come out! TAKE A LOOK AT THIS!!!

Yeah, in a minute.
